

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY STATEMENT

Core-IRM Pte Ltd are committed, through continuous improvement of our Health, Safety and Environmental Management System and progressive implementation by our employees to ensure that we carry out our business in an environmentally responsible manner. We believe that all environmental incidents are preventable.

Health, Safety and Environmental issues are of paramount importance to the Company and run hand in hand with Production and Quality during the execution of our work.

All personnel, (Managers and staff) are required to display total familiarity with the HSE Procedures. This is ensured through actively encouraging participation and input from all employees upon first arriving at the company. Awareness of individual responsibilities with regards to Health, Safety and Environmental matters is regarded as a crucial part of employee induction/training.

The Environmental system places particular emphasis on:

- Understanding the hazards that our operations present to the physical environment to work towards minimising any adverse impacts.
- Understanding and complying with environmental conditions established by national and international legislators, industry standards, codes and conventions, and client's standards and requirements.
- Ensuring that our employees and subcontractors are provided with the necessary and most up to date training and have the adequate competency in environmental issues.
- Ensuring that our employees and subcontractors are give responsibilities for environmental protection and are aware of their responsibilities.
- Using equipment which by-products are not harmful to the environment.
- Avoiding the creation of uncontrolled discharge of waste, emission and effluents to the environment.
- Ensuring that the objectives for environmental performance are set, implemented, monitored and reviewed.
- Taking Corrective/ preventive action, (audits, accident reports; safety bulletins/alerts).

The good environmental record of the Company therefore depends on ensuring that the above is implemented and where possible improved upon.

The HSE Management system is audited and reviewed periodically to ensure its compliance with these manual and related procedures. The audit provides us with a performance review, which is essential in gaining information/feedback on how to improve our system.
